“ Kay was not only my cousin but was a dear friend. We didn't get to see each other as often as I would have liked, but when we did, we would share stories and laugh.

Picture two grown women sitting upstairs in her parents house with the window open and sneaking cigarettes because we were sharing a bottle of wine.

She always was excited to hear from me as I was of her.

She inherited her mother's quick wit and sense of humor. But was also so caring and compassionate. I will miss her dearly.

My heart goes out to Uncle Dick and the family.

Love
